

Change Leader 'Think Outside the Box' Scholarships

Purpose:

These scholarships fund projects spearheaded by Change Leaders, which encourage innovative cultural engagement in communities. Scholarships can range from new cultural projects to targeted community-based activities.

Goals:

- Help Change Leaders build value and increase connections with their communities.
- Support "push projects" that are outside of normal organizational programming.
- Illustrate the impact of arts or museums
- Strengthen and raise awareness of the Change Leader Program.

A project must meet the following criteria:

- The applicant must request funding through a nonprofit institution (501(c)(3) or government agency and the check must be issued to that institution.
- The project meets the stated goals of the scholarship.
- This project must be new to your organization, a "push project", and not something that is part of your typical programming. This should be clearly different from the regular work that you do.
- Scholarship funds must be spent and project must be completed within the fiscal year, ending June 30th.
- Only certified Change Leaders may apply
 - The exception to this rule is if a Change Leader is using this scholarship as part of their certification project.
- A certified Change Leader must act as a chief organizer.

What we CANNOT fund:

- State agencies including state parks, or state-funded universities or nonprofits housed in said educational institutions (UCA 63J-1-206)
- Projects that are part of regular programming or services that organization(s) generally offer.
- Projects that have already taken place.
- A Change Leader's personal gain or that of immediate family members.
- For-profit ventures.
- Projects that are receiving other UA&M funding for the same activity.

- A new project, if the applicant Change Leader received one of these scholarships in the previous fiscal year, but did not submit an evaluation for the project.
- Funding may not be used for food, alcohol, or hospitality.
- No scholarship funds may be used for political advocacy.
- NOTE - If this scholarship is to be used for activities associated with a fundraiser, it is recommended that you contact a member of the Community Programs team prior to applying.
